

Venus flytrap &#039;Dionaea muscipula &#039;Pacman&#039; (CarniVFT46)

Dionaea muscipula &#039;Pacman&#039;

€ 33.34

Araflora has given the name pacman to the Dionaea muscipula &#039;Pacman' because one can imagine these traps looking like that small yellow figure eating his way through your screen. This rare Venus fly-trap mutant does not have the typical sharp teeth of the other Venus fly-traps but undulating, blunt ones. Within the traps a soft red colour can develop, moreover many &#039;trigger'-hairs are to be found there. Place the Dionaea muscipula &#039;Pacman' in a light spot and give it enough water.
